The Illinois Coal Association represents the coal industry in Illinois in three major areas:

- * Representing the industry on all legislation proposed in the General Assembly that pertains to the industry.
- * Representing the industry in its relations with all of the regulatory bodies and other agencies in the state.
- * Representing the industry in the broad spectrum of public relations in the state, whether it be with government, other industries or the public itself.

In short, the Illinois Coal Association speaks for the coal industry in Illinois and represents members that produce coal within the state.

We operate on a budget of approximately $300,000 to $400,000 annually. Occasionally, special assessments may be needed, such as legal fees or special studies conducted by or for the Association, usually at the request of member companies. Members are assessed based on the budget proposal for that year.
